MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Discussion with Mr. Samuel Papich, FBI,
Tuesday, 9 December 1958, 1500

50X1

2. Mr. Papich then went on to ask whether I was aware of the discussions concerning the DCIDs. I told him that I had heard them mentioned at staff meetings but had not been directly involved in any of these matters. He said that he hoped there would be thorough discussions between the agencies because there seemed to be a great deal of misunderstanding concerning what was really meant. He pointed out that even within the Bureau there were differences of interpretation, and specifically cited the matter of liaison saying that the Bureau was in full accord with the principle of the DCI coordinating all liaison with foreign intelligence services on matters concerning espionage and counterespionage, but that they had other subjects which they discussed with these services. He said that the Bureau was concerned with a phrase in the Directive implying that the DCI could "examine" liaison activities, and pointed out that this could well mean going through the files. He said that he hoped the meetings between General Cabell and Mr. Belmont could clarify these points.
